(International News Service)

ROCKVIEW PENITEN-TIAL, Bellefonte, Pa., Dec. 2.—Pennsylvania wiped out the remains of the notorious Mais-Legenza tri-state gang early today when Martin Farrell and Francis Wiley were bolted into eternity in the electric chair for the ransom slaying of William (big nose) Weiss, an underworld character in Philadelphia.
Farrell, 29, the first executed, went to his doom without a faltering step, repeating the litany for the dying between two priests, but his brother-in-law, Wiley, met death a cringing coward, his lips paralyzed by fright.

Protest Trials

Both went to their deaths still protesting the jury in Bucks County, adjoining Philadelphia, had judged them unfairly. But they went to the electric chair pals once again, for as the shadow of death drew nearer Wiley extended the hand of friendship to Farrell, whom he had previously accused of “squealing.” Wiley had not spoken

PA NEW OBSERVES

Dear Pa New:
Surely the citizens who had cause to be in the downtown section Saturday night were pleased with the array of scented pines with their dress of thousands of colored lights.
Washington street with its Christmas trees will play a great part in giving cheer to many people of our city, as well as to our many visitors who chance to be here. I for one wish to commend the downtown merchants, for their spirit in bringing about this array of beauty. This is truly spreading Christmas cheer.

OPPOSES WARLIKE SANCTIONS

Canada Against War Provocation

Statement Is Made By Minister Of Justice On Attitude

OIL EMBARGO NOT PROPOSED

(International News Service)
OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 2.—Canada today stood before the world as opposed to participation in "warlike sanctions" against Italy.

In a statement issued last night, Minister of Justice E. A. Lapointe declared that the proposal of an oil embargo against Italy by Dr. Walter Riddell, Canada's permanent delegate at Geneva, was only an expression of Dr. Riddell's personal sentiments and not those of his government.

Lapointe, acting prime minister while Mackenzie King is vacationing in Georgia, said that his government, as stated by King on Oct. 29, would support League of Nations economic sanctions, but would not join in sanctions of a military nature.

Any idea that Canada proposed the oil embargo, Lapointe asserted, is simply the outgrowth of a misunderstanding.

Creates Interest In U. S.
Washington, Dec. 2.—Canada's reluctance to be dragged into any general European conflict which might result from the League of Nations' economic war against Italy aroused keen interest in official quarters here today.

The Canadian government's statement disavowing any commitments binding Canada to military sanctions met with approval in those quarters here which favor the nations of this hemisphere keeping out of Europe's political quarrels here today.

The action of Dr. Walter Riddell, Canada's permanent delegate at Geneva, is sponsoring the move for extension of the League's economic embargo against Italy to include oil, steel and coal caused considerable surprise here at the time.

It was taken for granted that the Canadian delegate's move had been prompted by the British representatives. Credence was lent this belief by subsequent Geneva reports that Capt. Anthony Eden had suggested to Riddell he sponsor the move for an oil embargo against Italy.

If the league oil embargo against Italy had gone into effect under the initiative of Canada, it was seen likely here that Premier Mussolini would have retaliated with whatever economic means were at his disposal, probably cutting off all of Canada's import trade with Italy and engendering a deep and lasting resentment in the minds of the Italian people against Canada.

BIG GAME HUNTING SEASON OPEN IN STATE

even before the firing began. But the "kill" remained uppermost in the minds of the 200,000. Numerous restrictions have been imposed on the hunters this season in an extensive program to conserve the state's game. While the season on bucks is general, extending into all districts, it has been restricted to nine days. Does can be hunted on only three days and in only 14 counties.

Short Season
The season on bucks opened the hunting activity today, and it extends to December 11. Immediately afterwards, on Dec. 12, 13 and 14, does may be taken in the following counties: Bradford, Cameron, Centre, Clearfield, Clinton, Elk, Forest, Lycoming, McKean, Pike, Potter, Sullivan, Tioga and Warren.

Deer country in the regions of the Alleghenies is expected to be the most popular this season, particularly the Centre, Clearfield and Clinton county sectors. About 40,000 hunters, it was anticipated, would flock into this territory. The next most popular hunting areas will be those in Tioga, Potter and Sullivan counties, while the Pocono country, including districts in Carbon, Lackawanna, Monroe and Pike counties, will have their share of the hunters, as will the deer sections of Bedford, Fulton, Huntingdon, Blair and Perry County regions, where deer have been increasing in recent years.

Bear Season

Another feature of the new season to attract the hunters is the fact that, for the first time in several years, deer and bear season have been combined.

On December 5, 6 and 7 Black bear, protected the past two years, may be taken. One continued restriction on bears provides that only yearlings may be killed. Use of trailing dogs in tracking down bear is also prohibited.

While each party is restricted to one bear, the legal limitation of deer for the party during the season is six, either buck or doe. Individual hunters are entitled to but one deer for the season. "Legal" deer are only those with two or more points to one of the antlers, and spike bucks are protected.

The state's hunting contingent was to be led by Gov. George H. Earle, who planned to hunt from a lodge near Lock Haven.

ed to be improving by his physician, Dr. Irving Wills, who said that the youth had been in considerable pain because his diaphragm was punctured as a result of the shooting.

Dr. Wills said young Livermore is placed in an oxygen tent for 15 minutes at two-hour intervals in an effort to relieve the intensive pain he is suffering.

With the mother removed to the county jail to await further action by officials, Harrison Ryon, her attorney, declared that an accidental shooting defense will be offered should Mrs. Livermore be brought to trial.

From my talk with her and from my talk with the others, guests at the house, it is clear the discharge of the gun was purely accidental," Ryon said. "Mrs. Longscope (the lawyer referred to her by the name of her last husband, J. Walter Longscope) had no knowledge or suspicion that the gun was loaded.

"From my investigation of this case it seems clear that very little liquor had been consumed during the evening by the party as a whole, but afterwards, when Jesse Jr. came home, he and his mother drank some whiskey together."

Lion of Judah visited St. Mary's church early in the morning, touring it three times.

He inspected the American Seventh Day Adventist mission in the afternoon, where the journalists and cameramen were camped in the compound, and he witnessed an operation on a thief whose hand had been cut off by his victim.

As the emperor strolled through the journalists' camp, he wore the identical color of Mussolini's favorite uniform, that of an honorary corporal in the Fascist militia.

May Go To Front

The emperor said he was certain to go to the northern front, although he may return first to Abyssinia for a few days.

The Italians, according to information here, have been pursuing a baffling policy.

They are understood to have retreated south from Gerogibni and Gobralin, in Ogaden, allegedly because Ras Desta Demput, the emperor's son-in-law, was about to cut into their line of communication.

They have also apparently abandoned Makale, north of here, for unknown reasons.

The sledriding problem is again with us. Many of the streets of the city were being used last night by coasters, with the consequent danger entailed.

It would seem hard to believe that a year ago Sunday, it was like summer out. The temperature stood at 72 degrees. It started to chill off the next day, however, and on December 11 had succeeded in dropping down to one degree above zero. The cold snap started with snow flurries on December 7. Up to 9 o'clock this morning, a total of two and four-fifths inches of snow had fallen over the week end.

* * *

Saturday afternoon, two gentlemen came into The News building, bringing with them the head of a rabbit, that had two horns at the back of each ear, measuring two inches in length. Seven smaller horns encircled the back of the head, making a total of nine points. The animal, a regular wild cotton tail rabbit, was shot near Frizelburg on Friday, by Don Campbell of 29 North Lee avenue, this city. Anyone desiring to see the freak rabbit, can do so by calling at the Campbell residence.

* * *

Youngsters of the South Side, particularly those residing in the vicinity of the New Castle hospital, took advantage of the wintry snow by enjoying sled riding during the past two evenings. The practice is dangerous as numerous automobiles are driven in this district, due to the hospital.

HONOR DEAD AT ELKS' MEMORIAL

Other lodge officers, or their substitutes, occupied the various chairs. Members of the lodge occupied a reserved section.

Playing marches before and after the ceremonies and three appropriate numbers during the service was the Emery orchestra. The Elks quartet, including Miss Lillian H. Sarver, Mrs. Helen Urmon, Felch, Harry C. Urmon and J. Russell Urmon, sang special numbers and Mrs. Felch sang a contralto solo.

The quartet sang "Souls of the Righteous in the Hands of God" and "In the Sweet Bye-and-Bye". The solo of Mrs. Felch was "Abide With Me".

PAY TRIBUTE.

The large lodgeroom was darkened just at the moment Secretary Jacob Cosel, upon instructions of the exalted ruler, read aloud the names of the ten Elks who died during the past year. Acting Esquire Edward J. Ryan responded "absent" after each name and over the Elks antlers above the speakers' rostrum a light blinked out as the "absent" was spoken.

Impressive throughout the service of last night was held in accordance with the mandates of the grand lodge of the order which calls upon Elks to assemble for a "lodge of sorrow" on the first Sunday of each December.

The ten Elks who died since the last memorial program and who were remembered at the services of last night were W. H. Simpson, Dr. H. E. Zerner, S. W. Mitchell, J. C. Hanrahan, J. W. Dinsmore, Past Exalted Ruler William Garvin, Charles G. Martin, W. H. Mauermann, Charles H. Winter and Clyde C. Verley.

Occupying the chairs last night besides Exalted Ruler Davis were T. Earl Dukes, esteemed leading knight; Edmund Connelly, esteemed loyal knight; W. C. DeArment, acting esteemed lecturing knight; Jacob Cosel, secretary; S. Mehard, treasurer; Charles Zimmerman, tiler; Edward F. Ryan, acting chaplain, and inner guard, Sam Rosen.

George W. Thomas and Robert H. Thompson comprised the memorial committee.

In suits similar to 25 others on file here, the Gas and Electric Company and the Byrnes Corporation, investment bankers, late Saturday petitioned the court to grant an injunction restraining the security and exchange commission from enforcing the act.

he hopes his strong stand in the matter of sanctions will deter them. But if they go ahead in the teeth of his warning, he may act, preferring to take the chance of being "gloriously" in Europe rather than be strangled into submission during the course of a prolonged campaign in Africa."

Assuming that the war between Italy and England and France should start, it would inevitably spread, Colonel House said.

"Even in this country it would take only a few incidents to change the peace sentiment, though it is stronger than ever before," he said.

"Probably no events of the kind which have drawn us into past wars would involve us again. But there likely would be incidents of a new and unpredictable nature against which we have not built up a psychological defense."

This trip may well result in important decisions as a result of personal conferences to be held. A meeting with Premier Pierre Laval of France in Paris next week-end will be the first of these, and great importance already is being attached to it in foreign office circles.

THE ANOMALY OF FOOD IMPORTS

OCTOBER wrote another discouraging chapter in the AAA history; still more declines in exports of farm products, with minor exceptions; still more startling increases in imports of goods the farmers are bribed not to produce.

ACCORDING to Universal Service England wonders where Italy would strike first if Mussolini fulfilled his threat, and England's military experts decide that Alexandria would be Italy's first target.

The experts are mistaken, for Mussolini is no fool. His first target would be the nearest British battleship, his second target the crowded part of London, inside a line drawn around the Bond street hotel and shopping district, Buckingham Palace, the House of Parliament, the stock exchange and the Bank of England.

Very little TNT and poison gas would go a long way in that neighborhood. When Mussolini started, he went to Rome, not to some small town. When he next starts, it will not be for Alexandria.

This once great exporter of farm products, which in October last year shipped out 257,090 bushels of corn, exported under the Wallace regime in the same period this year a paltry 6184 bushels, an encouraging increase of 4044 bushels over the preceding month. Exports of wheat flour were 83,081 barrels less than in October, 1934.

This nobly motivated experiment, this glorified AAA which swivels agriculturists in Washington failed to "think through" to its logical and inevitable conclusion in one grand superlative mess, is indeed "far-reaching." It has reached into the purse of every consumer and every taxpayer; reached across our borders with a virtual subsidy for foreign agriculture.

BLINDFOLDED DRIVERS

Back in the gay nineties when the great mind reader came to town his most popular bally-hoo stunt was to drive—while blindfolded—a team of galloping horses down Main Street.

There are motor drivers who seem to be trying to do about the same thing today. They don't drive horses of course, and they don't wear blindfolds. But they do let snow, ice and heavy rains accumulate on their windshields and blur their vision. In which case they must simply trust to Lady Luck.

The importance of the windshield wiper is quite generally under estimated. Even when it's in good working order, snow or ice often accumulates faster than it can be carried off. In which case there is only one safe procedure. Stop the car and clean the windshield as often as is necessary.

A piece of celluloid pasted on the windshield will prevent freezing and aid clear vision in winter.

When the windshield wiper is needed, it usually is needed badly. See that it is kept in working order all the time.

FROM THE CRADLE TO THE GRAVE—TAXES

Here are two stanzas from a verse that has been making the rounds recently:

"When you light the evening lamp
You pay a tax."

"When you buy a postage stamp
You pay a tax."

"When you buy the baby clothes,
When you read the morning news,
When you buy a pair of shoes,
You pay a tax...."

"When you buy an ice cream cone
You pay a tax."

"For the water that you drink
You pay a tax."

"When you buy a loaf of bread,
When the doctor says you're dead,
When the final prayers are said,
You pay a tax."

It is doubtful if sadder or truer words were ever penned. Taxes begin with the cradle and end only in the grave. And today we are taxed more heavily, and in more ways, than we ever were before. Sit down some time and reflect on the taxes, indirect and direct, that you must pay in the course of any day's normal activities—and you'll get some idea of how necessary real tax reduction is.

UTILITY LAW ENFORCEMENT

A common sense course has been taken by the securities and exchange commission in proceeding with the enforcement of the new law against the public utility holding companies. Faced with a general refusal to register as of December 1, the commission will confine test suits to one or two instances. For the present there will be no criminal proceedings.

What the utilities seek at this time is to safeguard their constitutional defenses against the enforcement of the law. The mere act of registration, eminent legal counsel have advised them, would endanger whatever defenses they have. True, the commission, to encourage favorable response, has endeavored to make this first step in giving effect to the law a simple formality. As an earnest of its good faith it has incorporated a stipulation that no legal right would thereby be waived, but it has not shown that this would stand.

Without a definite settlement of that point the course of resistance to registration forms no basis for criticism, particularly in view of the fact that the law is less regulatory than punitive. An added circumstance of justification is the recent decision by Federal Judge Colemen holding the act unconstitutional in practically its entirety, now appealed to the supreme court.

There can be no question of the need of federal regulation of interstate public utility business, but the way in which the administration went about achieving it involves principles that, forgetting all about the corporations and their stockholders, vitally concern the public interest.

Ah, wind, if winter comes, can spring be far behind? The answer at this writing is "Yes."

Law-breakers are learning that you can't defy Uncle Sam unless you're a gold-hoarder.

Our prize for misplaced metaphor goes to the reporter who said a "dark horse" looms in Ontario's maternity contest.

You may be more righteous than the other fellow, or you may be more afraid of the neighbors.

Busy Week End.
Where Would Italy Strike?
Mary Pickford For Congress.
Poison Cocktail Parties.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE WEEK ended and the national campaign of 1936 began with President Roosevelt's assurance that the worst is over, including "big spending," and the country is solvent. "Big bankers" told the President in 1933 that the country could easily carry a debt of 50 to 70 billion dollars, and we owe twenty-nine-and-a-half billions. The New Deal, like the statesman from India, might be amazed at its own moderation.

THE 1936 campaign is "on" as far as the Democrats are concerned. If the Republicans will make up their minds about their candidate, name him, get behind him, and keep disappointed candidates from cutting his throat, the country will see a pretty political fight.

ACCORDING to Universal Service England wonders where Italy would strike first if Mussolini fulfilled his threat, and England's military experts decide that Alexandria would be Italy's first target.

The experts are mistaken, for Mussolini is no fool. His first target would be the nearest British battleship, his second target the crowded part of London, inside a line drawn around the Bond street hotel and shopping district, Buckingham Palace, the House of Parliament, the stock exchange and the Bank of England.

Very little TNT and poison gas would go a long way in that neighborhood. When Mussolini started, he went to Rome, not to some small town. When he next starts, it will not be for Alexandria.

IT IS ALSO suggested reasonably that Mussolini would bomb the pipe line that carries oil from the Mosul field to British ships on the Mediterranean, also that he might send submarines through the Straits of Gibraltar, to sink the shipping of British and other powers in the Atlantic.

England says that such conduct would "prove, in the end, sheer madness" and it might but that would not repair the crowded part of London, or bring back those wiped out.

ITALY USES 100,000,000 gallons of oil every year and imports it all. None comes from her colonies or her own soil. She ought to import a few competent American "wildcats," who know how to find oil and

HOW MUCH DO WE CHANGE?

I KNEW A pretty little girl, Plump, with lovely eyes, nice to be with, but heartless. This week she smiled at me, next week it was that new boy who had her favor, the week after that it would be someone else. . . . Fickle or perhaps she was merely doing emotional research. . . . I say she was a flirt.

I knew a handsome lad, with a good mind and tricky ways. He could do his work as well as any one of us, but he cheated in examinations. . . . Knew that the honor system was in existence in examinations, but cheated just the same. . . . Made a fine impression on all the older people, but none of the kids liked him. . . . We thought he was a hypocrite.

I knew a husky kid. He could run faster, jump farther than any of us. . . . He could play basketball, football, baseball and beat any of us at wrestling. . . . But we didn't like him. He'd order little kids around, laughingly wrestle with them, and twist their arms until they cried, then pretend it was an accident. . . . He was a bully!

I knew a shy girl. She had as much ability as any of the others. She could play the piano, she could sing, she could draw pictures nicely, she was a graceful dancer. . . . On a committee she did the hard work that counted. . . . But at the party she was always in the background, never the center of the boys' attention. . . . She had no talent for that sort of thing.

I knew a boy that everybody liked. . . . He wasn't any brighter than the rest of us, he didn't study very hard, he didn't boast, he didn't push himself forward, but he had personality. . . . And in almost everything we did—he was the leader.

Twenty years have gone. I have seen none of these five in all that. I do not know anything about them, nor where they live. But I'm sure, as I can be sure of anything, that the pretty girl is still a flirt, the handsome lad is still a hypocrite, the bully is still a bully, the shy girl still an unobtrusive worker, the boy who was the leader is still a leader of men and women.

A boy entered a grocery store and announced that he wanted a nickel's worth of nuts.

"Certainly, sonny," replied the grocer. "Would you like them mixed or is there some certain kind of nut you prefer?"

Urge Economy In Preparation Of Budget Bills

Chairman Buchanan Will Insist On Curtailments
Sub-Committees Meet

SEES PERMANENT PUBLIC WORKS PLAN

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Chairman James P. Buchanan, (D) of Texas of the house appropriations committee, today planned to go before sub-committees this week to urge rigid economy in the preparation of the big annual budget bills.

Hearings will be started early next week on the treasury-postoffice and independent offices supply bills, biggest bills in the annual budget. A hearing will be started on Dec. 8 on the interior department bill.

Reiterating his demand for economy in federal appropriations, Buchanan declared slashes in the presidential budget would be made wherever possible.

Permanent PWA

"It is the policy of the administration to stop the 'dole,'" said Buchanan. "There may be some work-relief, but to give a man work is not putting him on the 'dole'."

"If the states and private charity provide for the unemployed, as they formerly did, it will be done in a more economical manner than if done by the federal government."

"It looks as if we are headed toward a permanent public works system. Under this plan, $300,000,000 might be spent on public works when there was not much unemployment, and $700,000,000 when there was a great deal."

The permanent public works plan, Buchanan said, had been advocated by President Hoover and the late President Coolidge expressed interest in it.

Although there was an outcry when the last congress died with the third deficiency bill, carrying funds for social security, still in the same session, Buchanan proposes to initiate a new bill in the coming session.

Delay Social Security

This plan admittedly would delay the social security program and some government agencies, but Buchanan intimated special provision might be made if hardship was threatened by the delay.

"I'd like to appropriate only for the fiscal year ending June 30 for social security, and get two or three months experience under it before we appropriate for an entire year," he said.

The filibuster which killed the bill, he added, at least saved the government about $30,000,000 of social security costs.

Approving President Roosevelt's statement in Atlanta that the peak of federal appropriations has passed, Buchanan added, "God help the country if it hasn't."

He again expressed hope President Roosevelt's budget will contain sharp reductions from the tentative budget submitted to him by the budget bureau.

Woman Is Killed In Auto Plunge

CORRY, Pa., Dec. 2.—A plunge over an embankment by a skidding automobile killed Mrs. Peter Urbanick, 51, of Corry. The husband, who was driving, and a daughter, Mrs. Frank Butcher, escaped with minor hurts.

Highway patrolmen said Prbanick told them he lost control of his machine on the icy pavement while swerving to avoid hitting a truck. For iced coffee, make fresh coffee using it double strength or stronger. Then arrange chopped ice in tall glasses and pour the hot coffee over it. Serve powdered sugar and cream on the side.

The next Congress will pass a neutrality law forbidding the export of munitions. Not many voters own munitions stock.

Says Congress Will Pass New Bonus Measure

Republican Leader Predicts
Cash Bonus Over Presi-

PATMAN BILL IS NOT CONSIDERED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Hopes of $3,193,347 world war veterans for early payment of their adjusted service certificates were brightened to day when Senator Charles L. McNary, Republican leader of the Senate, predicted congress would pass a cash bonus over President Roosevelt's veto at the coming session.

McNary said the bill to become a law however must treat the bonus certificates as regular government obligations. By this, he meant, the bill would be defeated if it contained inflationary features.

Won't Be Patman Bill
"A bonus bill," he said, "in which the adjusted service certificates are treated the same as any other government obligation, will pass Congress over the president's veto at the coming session. It will not be the Patman bill."

The Patman bill, on which the Senate sustained Mr. Roosevelt's veto last spring, provided for payment of the certificates through the issuance of new greenback currency. On that vote, McNary supported the president as did other conservative Republicans.

Other congressional leaders shared McNary's viewpoint. They contended the administration could raid the needed cash through bond issues, just as it has raised funds to carry on recovery activities. At the same time, they contend payment of $2,100,000,000—about the same due the veterans—would serve to "prime the pump" of business, since the money would be paid out to veterans in every state of the union.

of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, meanwhile circularized department commanders with a warning against alleged administration plans to inject the tax issue into the bonus fight.

"Selfish business interests and individuals in the administration and Congress," Van Zandt wrote his state leaders, already have started a crafty campaign to place the immediate cash payment of adjusted service certificates in a dangerous and controversial position when Congress convenes. They intend to raise a smoke-screen of increased taxation if this debt is paid to the veterans of the World War.

"The bonus must not be jockeyed into any such position."

"With approximately $11,000,000 in gold and silver reserves in the treasury, there is no reason why the payment of this debt should be linked with increased taxes. The administration has been able to raise billion after billion for its varied program and no exception should be made in the case of the veteran."

"We cannot and must not permit these selfish groups and individuals to make the bonus question an issue of controversy so far as new taxes are concerned."

Lewis Pushes Union Battle

Seeks To Form Industrial Unions Against Formidable Opposition

WOULD ORGANIZE ALL WORKING MEN

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S Street
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America is losing no time in bringing up his heaviest artillery in support of his fight for expansion of the American Federation of Labor into an organization inclusive of all the workers in the country, not merely the highly skilled workers.

His Committee for Industrial Organization under his own chairmanship, has opened ambitious headquarters and is laying down a heavy barrage of excellently-prepared publicity.

That Lewis will succeed in his purpose of compelling the A. F. of L. to accept industrial unions generally within its ranks perhaps is not a certainty. If not, however, it clearly is his plan to push industrial unionization independently, affiliate these unions as an A. F. of L. rival and simply absorb the present federation by sheer power of the prospectively enormous superior bulk of the united industrial groups.

WAS IN MINORITY
The possibilities of Lewis' program are out of all proportion to the influence he has exercised in shaping A. F. of L. policies.

For a long time he has insisted that the federation is too exclusive in its membership, which is about 4,000,000 as against nearly 40,000,000 workers who, Lewis asserts, ought to be admitted.

On the opposite hand the executive council, the federation's managing body, never has fancied the idea of swamping its super-skilled 4,000,000 by the addition of almost 10 times as many less skilled or unclassified wage earners.

Lewis, indeed, himself was a member of the council until he resigned recently, to be free to wage his campaign for industrial unionization, but he was in a hopeless minority.

THE LINEUP
To particularize, the council is composed of President William Green and Secretary-Treasurer Frank Morrison of the A. F. of L. and 15 of the federation's vice presidents, who are presidents of unions affiliated with it.

There are reasons for thinking that Green and Morrison may not be altogether out of sympathy with Lewis. Green himself is a United Mine Worker, thus a member of an industrial organization. Morrison is a printer and the Typographical union's philosophy is in harmony with the U. M. W. W. Nevertheless, Green and Morrison get their mandates from the council and the council of late has been 13 vice presidents to 2 against Lewis; it is 13 to 1 since his resignation.

But Lewis, heavily as he has been outvoted in the A. F. of L.'s executive council, has not been so heavily outvoted by the A. F. of L.'s membership, for little unions elect a councillor apiece, just as big unions elect only a councillor apiece.

Reckoned on an A. F. of L. membership basis, the mine workers' leader is about 40 percent strong.

POWERFUL UNIONS WITH HIM

Yet this doesn't fully account for Lewis' potency as a factor in the labor situation.

He has, as a nucleus for a new federation, his own group, the United Mine Workers. Also seven other unions, whose presidents are associated with him in his Committee for Industrial Organization—the International Typographical Union, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union, the United Textile Workers of America, the Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers of America, the Cap and Millinery Department of the Cap and Millinery Workers' International Union and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

Now, assume that, with this start, he is successful in industrially organizing the nation's mass industries, such as steel, automobiles, rubber and the radio.

It would amount to a membership of 30 to 35 millions.

The A. F. of L.'s little four millions would look small by comparison.

FORMIDABLE OPPOSITION

It looks like a huge order. Not only will there be the A. F. of L. for Lewis to combat but employers in industries like steel and automobiles undoubtedly will resist industrial unionization of their workers. They prefer company unions or narrow craft unions anyway; they're not so formidable to deal with.

There's no telling, all the same, what John L. Lewis can accomplish.

As a leader he's an outright genius. He is as able as a fox; as courageous as a weasel—and, for candor, what he says you can gamble on.

I wouldn't wonder if he would found a Labor party.

Colonel Daniel W. MacCormack To Talk On Kerr Bill Tuesday Night

Colonel Daniel W. MacCormack, Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization for the United States Department of Labor, will speak in the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, on the Kerr bill.

The Kerr bill is to authorize the deportation of the habitual criminal, to guard against the separation from their families of aliens of non-criminal classes; and to provide for legalizing the residence in the United States of certain classes of aliens, strictly limited to persons of good characters who have been convicted of crime and not engaged in subversive political activities.

Colonel MacCormack is known as an excellent speaker and was heard by a number of New Castle people last winter when he spoke at Schenley Hotel, Pittsburgh.

His administrative abilities were in evidence during the construction of the Panama canal when he was a captain in the U. S. Army. Former Secretary Of Navy
Gives Views To Aero
Club

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 2.—What's in the air for aeronautics?

According to Edward Pearson Warner, editor of aviation magazine and former secretary of the U. S. Navy for aeronautics, it won't be stratosphere test flights, but more likely new airplanes which will carry passengers five miles above the earth faster, safer, and more comfortably.

Warner, a member of the national advisory committee for aeronautics, speaking before the Pittsburgh Aero club, declared that stratosphere ascensions contributed more to physics than to aeronautics.

"Nothing is practical above 35,000 feet," he claimed, "and regular flying schedules at 25,000 feet will require a radically changed airplane to accommodate passengers."

In Warner's estimated, the "fivemile" plane will never be developed to the popularity of the automobile, and in this connection, he declared:

"Can you imagine what an aeronautic traffic jam would mean, a crumpled fender?" a car means a busted wing" on an airplane, then where are you?"

Downie Reports 13,470 On Jobs In District

In a statement made today, J. Vale Downie, director of the W. P. A. district 14, says that the total number of people at work in this district, comprised of Lawrence, Beaver, Butler and Mercer counties, is 13,470, almost all employables on the relief rolls.

His statement follows: During the week now closing 715 workers have been added to W. P. A. payrolls in district 14, bringing the total number of workers in the district, exclusive of the administrative employees, to 13,470. This figure is only 311 below the November 1 quota of 13,781 established by the Harrisburg office. Reports from employment offices show remaining relief employables to the number of 100 in Beaver, 100 in Lawrence, 250 in Mercer and none in Butler county, a total of 450. These are now under requisition and if we get reports out of the 450 cards it will be a higher percentage of assignments than we have been able to obtain during recent weeks. It may be concluded therefore that the W. P. A. has now taken up 100 per cent of the employable relief load in district 14.

In addition to these workers it is our hope in the very near future to place several hundred women from relief rolls on the sewing room projects. At the present time final approval on the sewing room projects is anticipated with great anxiety in each county.

Also within the next couple of weeks a new policy developed by the state W. P. A. headquarters in Harrisburg will permit the assignment of a number of youths between the ages of 16 to 25 to W. P. A. projects. These youths will be permitted to work only one-third of the time and consequently receive one-third of the security wage. Eligible youths can be drawn from those families whose relief budget deficiency has been more than the W. P. A. security wage. When this policy is put into effect it will then be possible for an adult and a youth from such a family to be simultaneously employed by W. P. A. This will permit the assignment of approximately 200 youths in the four counties. When we have finally placed these youths and the women on the sewing room projects the ultimate in our employment program will have been attained.

The first workers were called to W. P. A. jobs during the last week of August. At the first of October nearly 2,000 men were at work. From that point on the rate of requisition was greatly accelerated. A total of 18,736 workers have been requisitioned to date, of whom 5,266 did not report or failed for some reason to be assigned. Some workers who did not report on the first call answered later summonses.

Total of 346 Jobs In Operation.

The amount of money now being poured into district 14 by the Federal government in support of the work relief program may be estimated at $759,000 per month, apportioned to the counties as follows: Beaver county $225,000, Lawrence county $250,000, Mercer county $178,000 and Butler county $106,000. A total of 346 jobs are in operation in the district, one less than a week ago.

During the week 19 highway jobs and five local W. P. A. jobs have been started. During the same period 25 jobs were completed and the men transferred to other locations.

Difficulties and delays in the clearance of payrolls to Harrisburg have been largely solved. When it is remembered that the payroll department in the district office at New Castle has picked up the clerical load of a force of over 13,000 men during the past ten weeks while going through a process of organization it is not surprising that a certain amount of confusion and delay have interfered with workers receiving their checks promptly after the conclusion of the pay periods. It must be remembered also that this condition is multiplied by 16 in the state office.

Payrolls are staggered, falling due in groups on each work day of the week. We are now clearing between 60 and 70 payrolls to Harrisburg every night. During the week an improved method of collecting payrolls daily from the four-county area has been developed. Four assistant chief timekeepers, one to each county, have been assigned the task of receiving the currently closing payrolls each evening from the hands of the job timekeepers. Each job timekeeper is required to bring his payroll on the evening of the last day of the pay period to his county office and turn it over to the county chief timekeeper, who checks the roll and delivers it in person to the district office at New Castle not later than 9 o'clock the following morning. Each county timekeeper will handle from 15 to 20 payrolls in this manner every day. The plan which is being put into operation calls for clearance of all payrolls from the New Castle office to Harrisburg on the mail train leaving at 9:30 the same evening. This schedule has not yet been fully attained but all payrolls are being cleared to the state office within three days of the conclusion of the pay period. It is believed that the planned

Entire Family Goes Insane In La Cruces, N. M.

Strangest Case In History Of Medical World, Caused By "Spirit"

(International News Service)
LAS CRUCES, N. M., Dec. 2—Six members of the Eulalio Cardon family were recovering here today after an attack which physicians said was one of the weirdest and most severe forms of temporary insanity in the history of medicine.

The father engaged the services of a "witch-doctor," Anselmo Bernial, to cure his daughter, Jesusita, of a devil. The practitioner, authorities said, evidently used a powerful drug in his incantations in which he burned a portion which filled the house with smoke for several days, upsetting the mental balance of a son, Andres, 23, Mrs. Antonio Galindia, 22, her sisters, Simona, Cruzisita, Jesusita and Leonora, who had to be taken to jail in straight jackets after they had destroyed the furniture, broken all windows, and doors and torn all their clothes to shreds.

Mrs. Maxwell and two daughters, sisters of Edith Smiling through their tears, the mother and sisters of Edith Maxwell are pictured at Wise, Va., awaiting the turn of fate that may give Edith her freedom if an appeal is successful. She was sentenced to 25 years for slaying her father in self-defense, she says, when he tried to whip her for staying out after 9 o'clock. Mrs. Maxwell, Kathryn, left, and Anna Ruth, right, are aiding in the fight to get Edith a new trial in the hill country.

Strange "Hex" Case Unfolded

Dauphin County Farmer Sets Fire To Barn To Chase Evil Spirits

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 2—Central Pennsylvania turned up one of the strangest "hex" cases in the history of its mystic folklore today—that of a Dauphin county father who allegedly confessed setting fire to his barn because someone was "putting spells" on his stock.

The farmer, Melvin J. Harbold, 32, of Lower Swatara township, was being held in Dauphin county jail.

And after hearing the story of his purported confession to Russell Houser, Middletown constable, authorities said he probably would be given a mental examination.

Loss Is $10,000
The barn, 14 head of stock, the season's crop and considerable farm machinery—valued in all at almost $10,000—were destroyed in the fire. Harbold is said to have started.

As related before Justice of the Peace Clarence Differder, of Middletown, the weird confession attributed to Harbold detailed how, after noticing that one of his mules would not eat, the young farmer determined to wipe out the "hex" by firing the barn to destroy "the man who was hiding there putting spells" on his stock.

FOIL CHICAGO BANDIT GANG IN GUN BATTLE

Auto Hold-up Is Frustrated

BOAT OFFICER ROUTS BANDITS

(International News Service)
CHICAGO. Dec. 2.—Leon Mandel II and his brother, Fred L. Mandel, Jr., Chicago merchant princes, and their pretty wives were scheduled to visit the rogues' gallery at police headquarters today in an effort to identify two bandits they routed in a thrilling gun battle yesterday.

Returning from a gay party celebrating Fred Mandel's birthday, the Mandels were about to board the palatial yacht, the Buccaneer, where the Leon Mandels live, when a sedan drew up beside their car on the Chicago river dock.

Foil Holdup.

A masked bandit stepped from the sedan, flourished a gun, announced: "This is a holdup. Nobody is going to get hurt if you'll just act nice."

The bandit seized Mrs. Fred Mandel, pulled her from the Mandel auto, and was about to strip her of her jewels, when John Beasley, quartermaster of the Buccaneer, heard the commotion. He leveled a gun at the bandit, ordered him to throw up his hands. Instead the bandit opened fire. He held Mrs. Mandel before him as a shield.

Mrs. Mandel wrenched free from her captor, scratched his face, and dropped to the ground. Meanwhile the Mandel brothers had secured pistols from the pockets of their auto and they opened fire on the bandit as he fled toward his car in which a confederate was waiting. They said they believed they wounded one of the bandits.

Hog Production To Be Increased

Hog Provisions Of Program For 1936 And 1937 Are Announced

Direct Reversal Of Recent Campaign Slaughtering Hogs

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—Details of the 1936-37 corn-hog adjustment program, calling for a 30 percent increase in hog production in 1936, a reduction in corn acreage and a subsequent soil improvement program, were announced today by the AAA.

The hog provisions of the program are a direct reversal of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's recent hog-slaughtering campaign to raise the price of hogs to the farmer. Officials of the AAA hope the new program will "secure for corn-hog farmers fair returns for their products and assures consumers of an adequate supply of pork in the future."

The new contracts, effective December 1, require the signer of producer at least 50 percent and not more than 100 percent of his allotment of market hogs if he is to receive the maximum hog adjustment payment. A payment of $125 per head will be made on each hog in the quota.

Will Make Payment

A reduction of $2.50 per head will be made however, if the signer fails to raise 50 percent of his quota, but signers producing any number of hogs between 40 and 100 percent of the allotment requirements will receive payments equal to a 100 percent production. Deductions of $5 a head will be made for every hog produced over quota.

Full details of the 1937 hog production program depend largely on the outcome of the 1936 program, but AAA officials said to secure maximum payment the producer will not be asked to raise more than 60 percent nor make a downward adjustment of more than 25 percent of his assigned market quota. The 1937 adjustment rate will not be less than the 1936 rate. Adjustments for the 1936-37 program will be made in one installment at the close of each year.

TWO GANGSTERS ARE EXECUTED AT ROCKVIEW

to Farrell since March 2 when they were sentenced but Sunday afternoon, after the grievance was healed, they began conversing freely.

Farrell, his step firm and his face an ashen white, was led from his cell in the death house on the stroke of 12:30. He followed the prison chaplain, the Rev. Francis R. McCreesh, and the Eastern Penitentiary chaplain, the Rev. Bernard Farley, over the 30 steps to the electric chair.

In a loud and clear voice, Farrell repeated the litany for the dying. He entered the chamber a few seconds past 12:30, attired in the familiar white shirt, blue trousers slit at the leg, and slippers.

First Of Pair Executed

Guards quickly adjusted the straps and applied the electrodes and salt water sponges. At the signal, Robert G. Elliott, the gaunt executioner, pushed the switch and two thousand volts of whining electricity coursed through Farrell's body as it strained against the straps.

Three and a half minutes later, Farrell was pronounced dead by Dr. W. J. Weixel, the prison physician.

It required only a minute and a half to remove Farrell's still warm body from the death chair. As the mask was removed Farrell's mouth, set in a crazy leer, was exposed to the witnesses. The body was quickly taken to the autopsy room at the rear of the death chamber.

At exactly 12:36, Wiley, half walking and half leaning on the arms of two guards, was placed in the chair. Again the priests intoned the litany but Wiley's lips were tightly set and he made no response. His frightened eyes were visible to the witnesses.

Second Of Pair Dies

The slender gunman, who with Farrell and four other convicts had once escaped from the Eastern Penitentiary through a mile and a half of sewers, went to his death, unable to move his lips in prayer.

At 12:37 Elliott once again pushed the switch which has become so familiar to his hand and three minutes later, at 12:40, Wiley was pronounced dead.

Sunday afternoon the doomed men were visited by Mrs. Bridget O'Donnell, Wiley's mother; Mrs. Margaret Farrell, Farrell's wife and Wiley's sister; Mrs. Anna Santelli, another of Wiley's sisters, and Samuel and John Wiley, the oldest and youngest brothers of the condemned man.

During the hour the seven conversed, the principal topic was the trial in Bucks County and their belief the men had been convicted unfairly.

Mrs. O'Donnell collapsed as she left the prison. But when she spoke to her son she was brave and calm as an example for him.

The last message the men received from the outside world before the death march was a telegram informing them their kin had arrived safely back in Philadelphia.

When Farrell and Wiley went to the electric chair, it was the first time in the history of Pennsylvania that brothers-in-law were executed together.

Two Previously Executed

Robert (killer) Mais and Walter Legenza, leaders of the swaggering gang to whom human life was of little value, were executed in Richmond, Va., for a holdup killing. Before they were executed in Virginia, they escaped in a blaze of gunfire that left one policeman dead and two guards wounded. Mais and Legenza joined Wiley and Farrell in Philadelphia and executed a bloody series of crimes before all were apprehended finally in New York.

Weiss, a leader in the numbers and dope racket in Philadelphia, was kidnapped from in front of his home by the gang October 26, 1934. After his family had paid $8,000 of the $100,000 ransom demanded, Weiss was slain and his body, weighted down by 100 pounds of iron, was tossed into Neshaminy Creek on the outskirts of Philadelphia.

To procure weapons for its criminal forays, the gang looted National Guard armories at Norristown and in Maryland. Fortified by machine guns, rifles, revolvers and hundreds of rounds of ammunition, Mais at one time nurtured the hope of becoming the John Dillinger of the east.

Pretty Mary McKeever, his sweetheart, allowed to go free as a ruse, finally led police to the gang's New York hideout.

Farrell had been separated from his wife, Wiley's sister, for some time but they were reconciled during the family visit at the penitentiary.

William G. Amos, father of William, arrived here last night to claim the bodies.

The tragedy occurred when the Amos automobile crashed into the machine driven by Mock, who, according to Glenn Dillman, of Altoona, Pa., who witnessed the accident, was driving on the wrong side of the road.

As the wreckage immediately burst into flames, Dillman told authorities he could only remove the body of Mock because the heat of the fire drove him back before he could reach any of the Amos family.

Doctors Battle To Save Life Of Munhall Child, Mys- terious Poisoning

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 2.—After losing two rounds, physicians today seemed to be winning their battle to prevent the death of a third Munhall child stricken by food poisoning.

Condition of 6-year-old Edward Brugas was reported "pretty good" this morning at Homestead hospital where he is waging a hard struggle against death from the same poisoning that claimed the lives of a young brother and sister.

Seek Antidote

Medical men were feverishly engaged in search for an antidote to counteract the mysterious poison. County Chemist F. C. Buckmaster after exhaustive examination of cooking utensils in which the mother of the family prepared the fatal meal ten days ago, said a poisonous salt of nickel may have found its way into the food.

He was not certain, however, and added the deaths may be traceable to insecticide on the surface leaves of the cabbage eaten by the children.

The second fatality came Saturday when Albert Brugas, 8, followed his two-year-old sister, Ann, in death by several days. Adults in the family were only slightly affected.

(International News Service)
STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal.,
Dec. 2.—Southern Methodist University will meet Stanford in the annual Pasadena Rose Bowl game on New Year's Day.

Announcement S. M. U. was selected was made late last night on the campus here by Alfred J. Masters, Stanford graduate manager,
following a telephone call to Dallas,
Tex., in which he officially extended the invitation to James Stewart, athletic director at S. M. U.

Stewart immediately consulted and received the approval of the
S. M. U. athletic committee.

The invitation and acceptance by the undefeated Mustangs, who won the Texas Christian Saturday
20-14, followed almost immediately upon definite word from the east the Princeton Tigers were unavailable.

BRUBAKER HITS

299 IN DUXPINS

Fred Red Brubaker, former New Castle star bowler and now a resident of Sharon came within one pin of hitting a perfect 300 game in duckpins, at the Sharon alleys, recently. He was bowling with George Ryne. The number five pin wiggled, but stayed upright, otherwise Brubaker would have had 300.

On Court House Hill

Letters of administration in the estate of the late James Russell McNamee have been granted by Register and Recorder William R. Hanna to Laura Duggan. In the Martha Logue estate letters have been granted to Christine Walter.

Frank Rausch, who was convicted in the Lawrence county courts of breaking and entering and sentenced to serve from one to two years in the Western penitentiary, has filed an application for a pardon. He has served the greater part of his sentence and his case will be heard by the pardon board on December 14.

In the case of H. A. Walter and J. A. Williams, Grove City, trading as the Broad street garage, against Fred E. Specht of Harrisville, Judge James A. Chambers handed down an opinion today on which a rule on a petition of defendant to open judgment is discharged. The case is one growing out of a replevin suit in which a truck and trailer were involved.

An appeal from the decision of Alderman L. C. Mantz has been taken by the defendant in the case of Laura B. Gardner against the Peoples bank of Ellwood City. The alderman's decision was in favor of the plaintiff for $665.00.

Prothonotary R. M. Campbell has compiled a list of the road supervisors chosen at the recent election. The list is as follows: Edward S. Noggle, Big Beaver township; W. M. Kildoo, Hickory; H. E. Coblenz, Little Beaver; Leon O. Cover, Mahoning; D. B. Reynolds, Neshannock; W. O. Taylor, North Beaver; Austin C. Beighly, Perry; Samuel Patterson, Plaingrove; Frederick Taylor, Pulaski; Harnish Cameron, Scott; Frank E. Smith, Shenango; Harold Fox, Slippery Rock; Norman Johnston, Taylor; Peter Gierlach, Union; Roy E. Donley, Washington; Paul L. Tully and Clyde Gibson, Wilmington.

When the present board of county commissioners leave office they will hand down to the incoming board a relic of the office in the shape of a picture of the new court house which the county was going to build but didn't. The picture has been framed and occupies a prominent place on the walls of the commissioners' office. We don't know what use the picture will be to the new board of commissioners unless to remind them of the county's narrow escape from a huge debt.

There is such a thing as being too comfortable, or maybe "comfort"

Loudon Writes
Of Army Duties

Says Recent Big Plane Crash Was Not Due To Faulty Construction

George Loudon, New Castle boy, who has been stationed at Langley Field, Va., writes of events of interest at his station, which have occurred since his return after a recent visit to New Castle.

When he was here, there had been one of the worst air crashes in the history of the Army service, at Dayton Field. He states that on this occasion he had spoken to William Wignall, his uncle John Loudon, Fred Welford and others, on the subject and felt at the time that the crash had been caused by faulty construction.

This has since been disproven, he stated, but was due to the fact that the rudder and elevator controls locked, preventing the pilot from regaining control of the machine. He says the loss of Major Poyer P. Hill, will be sadly felt.

His Old Job Looks Good To Chief

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 2.—Police Chief Leroy Goodwin resigned yesterday, announcing that he would return to his old civil service job of superintendent of identification, from which he took a leave of absence four years ago to become chief.

Goodwin, who is expected to be replaced as chief by the new administration, apparently took his action to be more sure of regaining his old job before the new administration comes in.

Opening Hour

By LESLIE GOULD

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Stocks rallied generally recovered the losses experienced in opening transactions today. Trading, however, continued on a restricted scale.

Transactions stood out today with gains ranging up to 1% for Interborough, B. M. T. common was a point higher.

Mail order shares were in better demand, both Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward rallying. Railroads attracted little attention and the price changes in both of those groups were narrow.

Fireside Tire and Rubber advanced into new high ground. Steels were generally around Saturday's closing levels, apparently awaiting American Iron & Steel Institute figures.

The European situation reduced speculative interest, many desiring to await a clarification of that situation.

Homestake Mining rose 2 points to $30, as it was ex-dividend $20.

U. S. Smelting was another feature, jumping 2½ points.

Commodities were about unchanged, wheat and cotton holding around Saturday's close. Bonds were higher. Gold currencies advanced in the foreign exchange market.

Rotarians Transact Business At Noon

Luncheon Today Given Over
To Monthly Reports; Plan
For Party

Rotary business occupied members of the local Rotary club when they gathered at the Castleton for their regular weekly meeting today. Vice President Ray Tannehill presided in the absence of President Harold R. McCulloch.

The club was told that Jack Bostick, a member of the original Rotarian Boy Scout troop, has been chosen scoutmaster of that troop, succeeding Earl C. Ruby. Ruby resigned after several years of faithful service.

Support of the Rotarians was asked today for the convention of the Pennsylvania state grange which occurs here on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Tonight will bring to a close the two-month attendance contest which the New Castle club is waging with Butler Rotarians, and club officers expect word of the outcome within a few days. The record of the local organization was not announced, pending the report of the Butler standing.

Leaders of the campaign did say, however, that 62 out of the 77 Rotarians attained a 100 percent record for their attendance during October and November. In November there was only one case of absence not covered by illness.

Other committee reports were heard.

The Rotarians will hold a Ladies' Night party in the Highland U. P. church on Monday evening, December 16.

Three Deer Kills Reported At Kane And Punxsutawney

(International News Service)

KANE, Pa., Dec. 2.—Three deer kills were reported from the Kane and Punxsutawney regions early to day as some 20,000 hunters in those areas stalked the game with opening of the deer and bear season in Pennsylvania.

An 8-point buck was bagged by Dr. Wyllie Scott of Canton, O., three miles from Kane while R. A. Oakes, Mt. Jewett, shot a 6-point buck.

Game wardens estimated there were 25,000 deer in McKean county and said snow made the tracking good. Approximately 15,000 nimrods have converged on the region for the season.

George Neal, Anita, killed a 75-pound, five-point buck in Battle Hollow, near Punxsutawney, to give that county its first score.

Court Holds Fate Of State Building Plans

By ARTHUR H. WAKELEE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Dec. 2.—Upon constitutional interpretations of the seven justices of the Pennsylvania supreme court depends the ultimate fate of $60,000,000 worth of building projects the administration hopes to carry out in various sections of the state.

These projects were sponsored by the state authority board, created by an act passed during the last session of the legislature. Legality of that act was questioned in taxpayer's test suit and argument on the issue was recently completed.

Under the authority program an extensive building program for state institutions would be carried out with the aid of loans and grants from the federal government. Already $18,000,000 of the $60,000,000 program have been approved in Washington. Payment of this sum and approval of the remainder of the program hinges on the decision of the supreme court.

Governor George H. Earle has pointed out if the act creating the authority is upheld by the high tribunal, thousands of jobs will be made available for the state's unemployed, while if the act is declared unconstitutional Pennsylvania taxpayers stand to lose millions of dollars that will be turned over to other states.

"Note only will state taxpayers lose this money," Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti pointed out in commenting on the situation, "but they will pay a double tax if the act is held invalid."

He explained Pennsylvanians would first contribute in taxes to support of programs in other states and if the decision of the court is against the authority, $26,000,000 contributed by this state to the federal treasury would be lost.

Secondly, he pointed out, construction embraced in the building program is necessary and must be carried out some time. When the projects are eventually undertaken, Margiotti said, the entire cost will have to be borne by the state's taxpayers, thus levying a double tax.

Under the authority act, Pennsylvania would benefit in the construction program by grants of the federal government amounting to 45 per cent, in addition to which the government would lend the remaining 55 per cent of the cost to the state. Loans would be repaid over a 30-year period at four per cent interest. The act empowered the authority to issue bonds for construction and other projects and gave it the power to make contracts with the state and federal governments.
